PERILS INCREASING FOR ARCTIC BOAT

Scientist Says Wilkins Faces Great Danger in Prolonging Voyage.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Star dust on the bottom of the sea among other scientific things, has drawn Sir Hubert Wilkins, submarine polar explorer farther north than any other man has ever sailed or steamed—and into great danger in the opinion of Vilhjalmur Stefansson, who accompanied him on his polar trip.

Infrequently heard from, Sir Hubert is now in the great Arctic ice pack about 350 miles from the north pole, Mr. Stefansson said today.

Sir Hubert undoubtedly cannot much longer delay his return from the ice because the summer season virtually is finished.

When he started his trip the chances were four to one in his favor but with winter approaching the odds are reversed.

I think Sir Hubert is over confident in the powers of his very efficient radio. The Orat Zeppelin had as powerful a set, but also could not communicate with the outside for some time. In all likelihood he is safe at present."

Mr. Stefansson emphasized the importance of Sir Hubert's trip as explaining that in no other way can certain important scientific phenomena be obtained. He said that dust from outer space is deposited in the polar regions.

Five purely scientific expeditions of the world it is mixed with terrestrial dust. Obviously any scientist that Sir Hubert can obtain from the bottom of the sea will be of use to science.

"Sir Hubert also seeks to weigh the earth from the north which is the shortest radius to the center of the globe."

A date for hearing the ouster case was to have been set by Common Pleas Judge John R. King yesterday when Clarence M. Adams, one of Botwick's attorneys brought up the question of jurisdiction. Adams criticized the procedure taken by the complainants and attacked the constitutionality of the statute providing for the suspension of a public officer pending disposal of a removal petition. Baker was to answer these arguments.

GERMANY, AUSTRIA DROP TRADE PLAN

Renunciation of Customs Union Proposal Expected To Improve World Conditions.

By The Associated Press

Dr. Johann Schober attending for Austria, said his government had arranged with Germany to pursue the matter no further and Dr. Julius Curtius of Germany concurred.

Their action anticipated a decision by the world court to which the customs arrangement was referred for an opinion.

Spokesmen for France, Italy and Czechoslovakia cordially welcomed the decision of Austria and Germany. Disso Grandi Italian foreign minister describing it as a promise of distinct improvement in the world's economic conditions.

Dr. Curtius expressed the conviction that a realization of the imperative necessity for European cooperation had increased appreciably in the last few months and asserted that closer economic cooperation between nations is the only way of improving economic conditions in Europe.

"I hope," said Dr. Schober after he had announced that Austria would abandon the customs union, that this declaration will contribute materially to clearing of the atmosphere so that the governments may cooperate constructively. The declaration which I have just made should serve to restore reciprocal confidence. The important thing now is that collaboration should in fact take place and that practical results should be attained."

The rear axle of the truck was broken and the body and fenders were slightly damaged. The sedan was also damaged to a considerable extent. The automobiles were taken to garages for repairs.

YOUTHS TAKE GUNS, KNIFE FROM STORE

Four Wanted Thrown Boys Took Gun, Knife From Store.

The temptation to possess revolvers and other weapons in a display window, proved too much for two boys, one 17 and the other 11, living in the West Side. Today they will appear before Juvenile Judge Oscar Gast on a charge of breaking into the W. C. Beatty store on west Center street.

Six revolvers, dagger and a powder horn taken by the boys were found by police buried in the back yard at the home of one of the boys yesterday. The hiding place of the stolen articles was learned by the police after the two boys had been brought to the office of Police Chief Marks.

Just a desire to own the guns was the only reason given by the boys for the burglary. Chief Marks said today, in their story to the chief, the boys said they went to the store Sunday afternoon and selecting a time when no one was near, forced open a rear window.

Later, the boys said, they placed their loot in a sack and buried it.

WORLD DEPRESSION REMEDY SOUGHT

Spread of Feeling of Confidence Urged by Pan-American Group

By The Associated Press

GENEVA, Sept. 3.—A series of guideposts designed to point Europe's way out of the wilderness of economic adversity passed before the eyes of the Pan-American commission in plenary session today.

The co-ordinating committee of the commission in formulating its recommendations admitted no simple remedy to restore prosperity could be advanced and that the psychological depression was the greatest hazard to be surmounted.

Certain major guiding principles can be laid down, their report said, "and the first of these is that the psychological factor dominates the economic crisis affecting most nations today, and it is for the politicians above all to influence men's minds by spreading throughout the world a general feeling of confidence."

"It would seem to be necessary to discard every pre-conceived opinion, to be guided by experience and to seek remedies wherever there seems to be a chance of finding them."

FAVORITES LOSE OUT IN MATCH PLAY OF GOLF TOURNAMENT

Youngsters and Unknowns Only Ones To Survive Bunkers of Beverly.

BY PAUL NICKELSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—Forecasters behind the trees and bunkers of Beverly today, half expecting anything to happen as the skillful for the National amateur golf championship bounded down the quarter-final stretch. They were hopelessly up in the tangled atmosphere. Almost all their hand-picked favorites were out of the picture and the tide for Bobby Jones' vacated crown resembled a wild scramble at a

WILL PLAY TODAY

After a day's delay due to rain the third Little World series recreation baseball game will be played today at Lincoln park. St. Mary's of the No. 1 Sunday school league will meet the C. D. & M. Electric company of the Industrial league. No announcement has been made concerning the game originally scheduled for Friday between the losers of today's game and the Protestants. It will be announced at the time of playing at the C. D. & M. St. Mary's game today.

Saturday morning bargain counter. Going over all eight needed players except Francis Quimet of Marion, and Maurice McCarthy of New York, and keeping step with them were six others, who never before seriously threatened to win the title.

Two, 19-year old Billy Howell of Richmond, Va., and 21-year old Paul Jackson of Kansas City, were out and out strangers in the big game. Jack Westland of Chicago and Lester Bolstad of St. Paul were over the first two rounds the first time in their golfing experience. The others were Arthur "Ducky" Yates, who managed to get into the second round by upsetting George Von Elm, in 1928, and Fay Coleman of Los Angeles, whose chief previous claim to fame was that he lost to Hooten Jones, 4 and 5, in the Shirley finals at Marion last year.

Quimet alone was the hope of the "old guard," which sadly surveyed the fortunes of war from the sidelines today. But the "hows" of 17 years ago was in there, headed up in the battle. Back on the sound game that made his name famous, Quimet probably swooped out as the one big favorite in the fight.

TYGERS HAVE LONG LIST OF VETERANS ELIGIBLE FOR PLAY

Murphy Men Headed for Third Consecutive Championship; Ashland, Bucyrus Given Outside Chance To Crash Through; Harding's Strength Remains in Dark.

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK
Sports Editor, The Star

The principal battle cry of the N. C. O. football teams outside of Mansfield this season is likely to be—BEAT MANSFIELD! The Tygers having won the league football the last two seasons in a row without as much as suffering a defeat in league competition, the rest of the league has arrived at the conclusion that the Tygers have collected their share of honors for the time being.

Whether or not the other teams are able to do much about this business of stopping Mansfield is somewhat of a question. Coach Russ Murphy has another crew of seasoned Tyger veterans ready to take up where the 1930 team left off and it is almost safe to say that the team which does succeed in stopping Mansfield will be champions of the league this year.

A checkup on the league material available for teams this year does not reveal any school that is likely to finish a team a lot stronger than that of last season. Ashland appears to have about as good a chance as any to oust Mansfield from its position at the top of the heap.

ASHLAND

SEVENTY aspirants for posts have been issued equipment by "Rookie" Starn but the possibility of a championship organization this year has been handed a severe setback by the recent loss of Bob Bear, the only experienced quarterback back on the Hilltoppers' squad. Bear has announced his intention of entering Kentucky Military Institute. His loss gives Starn a big problem.

From early indications Ashland's forward wall will not be quite as heavy as last season. There are about 25 backfield candidates out for practice but most of them are green and lack the weight necessary to make them unusually dangerous. However, whatever quartet of backs Starn decides to use, will probably be able to match speed with most any in the circuit.

SHELBY

AFTER a season's used largely for installation of a new system of play, Coach Young thought he was all set to go places this fall but the recent loss of Jim Miller has taken away a large part of the optimism concerning the Shelby eleven. Miller was operated on recently for appendicitis and will not play this year. He had been counted on as the shoulder the greatest share of the Shelby attack. Without him, Shelby is not only deprived of its best offensive threat but loses the only really capable field general uncovered yet by Young. Shelby won't win any championships this fall. The Whippers will work hard to keep among the leaders of the league.

BUCYRUS

IF PRESENT indications count for anything at all Bucyrus should out considerable of a figure in the battle for the N. C. O. pennant. Seven letter men are returning for competition and there are a number of members of last year's squad who should be able to fill in the points of last year's departed players without more than average difficulty. Talbot in the backfield assumes a well directed offense and Oberlander at center in the line will be a big help on defense. Two men will not make a championship football team by any means but Coach Nussbaum has a lot of promising material to fill the remaining positions. The biggest problem is expected to be in finding a pair of capable tackles.

Capt. "Red" Fordham may be the only regular in place on the Clemson football team this year.

MANSFIELD

MANSFIELD has a wealth of material to pick this year's starting lineup. The Tygers school has developed a system whereby the school has about a half more men out than any other school in the league, thus assuring a large number of men ready to step into spots vacated by graduating players.

Charles McKinney, the best kicker in the league, will be back, as will Frank Fleck, star quarterback of last year. Pete Zivkoff and Gene Brandon, both stellar backs, are in the fold again. Murphy has about 40 of last year's squad back and expects to have at least that many more recruits out for the first time. The Tygers should roar right through the schedule to another championship.

MARION

IT IS rather early yet to state what Harding has in store for the coming season but it is safe to say there will be no championship trophy added to the school's collection as a result of this year's grid campaign. Boyer should have a heavier team to work with this year than last. It is altogether unlikely that the Presidents will experience a season as dismal as in 1930. Morgan, Lindsey and Keller appear to be the probable mainstays of the backfield. Gray and Jevan are the outstanding linemen returning.

Boyer has plenty of work cut out for himself in finding a pair of ends who can do a reasonably good job of turning in opposing plays. Weak ends spelled the downfall of Harding on more than one occasion last year. Harding will probably have about 40 men on the squad roster this year.

GALION

GALION as usual can be counted on this year to have a fighting outfit but whether it will pack enough power to accomplish much in the title race is another question. One thing will not be answered until the Orangemen have put in several days of practice. Right now it looks like Galion would be able to spring an upset here and there but would not be able to clamor into the championship post.

Mary Zita McCallie, national public parks tennis champion, a student at Southern Methodist university, has won the Dallas city title four times.

BOSTON BRAVES SKID TOWARD CELLAR AS NEW YORK WINS TWO

Cleveland Loses First to Chicago; Second Called with Score Deadlocked.

BY GAYLE TALBOT

Associated Press Sports Writer
Despite the best efforts of Judge Emil Fuchs' pocketbook and the recognized managerial ability of Bill McKechnie, the Boston Braves at last appear to have hit the skids for fair.

Loosing another doubleheader to the New York Giants yesterday, 9 to 2, and 3 to 1, the Braves for the first time this year fell into sixth place in the National league standings. The Pirates, idle, passed them by a half-game.

Yesterday the Braves fell conceded victims to the shoots of Carl Hubbell, Giant southpaw, and Roy Parmelee, a rookie making his first start this year for the McGrawmen. Hubbell yielded eight hits in the first hit, but Parmelee cut the Braves' quota down to four in the ninth.

Given steady pitching by St. Johnson and Larry Benton, the lowly Cincinnati Reds came near knocking the Chicago Cubs out of third place with a double victory, 7 to 4, and 8 to 4. It was the third twin killing credited to the Reds in as many weeks.

The Washington Senators supplied the day's highlight in the American with their third straight win over the Athletics, 5 to 2. As a result, the A's had a bare 13½ game lead today. General Alvin Crowder, plucked his second victory over the champions within four days.

Scab relief pitching by Ivy Paul Andrews, a rookie, enabled the Yankees to overcome a five-run lead and nose out the Boston Red Sox, 7 to 6. Andrews allowed only two hits after the Sox chased Gordon Rhodes in the third. Babe Ruth sparked his thirty-eighth homerun with none on in the first.

The Detroit Tigers made it two out of three for their series with the St. Louis Browns by dividing their doubleheader, winning the first, 5 to 4, and dropping the second, 7 to 3.

Urban Faber's pitching and batting enabled the Chicago White Sox to finish the day one up on Cleveland Indians. The veteran buster Al Harter, 2 to 2, in the first game starting his team's scoring with his fourth hit of the season. Darkness halted the second fray with the score tied, 4 to 4, at the end of the sixth inning.

URGES PRECAUTION AGAINST TYPHOID

Dr. N. S. Sifrit, Health Commissioner, Tells of Work To Halt Disease.

A program of immunization as a means of preventing the spread of typhoid fever, was urged by Dr. N. S. Sifrit, health commissioner, at the meeting of the city board of health yesterday afternoon. Although only three cases have been reported, the health commissioner said he regarded the immunization in the districts where the disease has broken out, as of vital importance to prevent its spread. He took occasion to comm mend Dr. E. W. Mott, a member of the board, who at one time immunized 40 persons and who later treated 15 others. Dr. Mott, the health commissioner said, had been treating one of the typhoid cases and suggested to the family that any who had been exposed to the disease, be given the typhoid immunization treatment. When a few days later he returned to give the treatment, he found 40 persons who wished to be immunized. The board of health furnished the serum and Dr. Mott took charge for his service Dr. Sifrit said.

The faulty construction of wells was given by Dr. Sifrit as the reason for the present of the disease at the three homes which have been reported. In each case he said the family had been drinking water from wells into which surface water had drained due to the top of the casing being level with the ground.

The health commissioner reported he had sent 75 samples of water to the state department to be tested during the month and was urging that every family using water from a well on their premises boil the water before using.

16 LOCAL CHILDREN RETURN FROM CAMP

Marion Youngsters Enjoy Salvation Army Vacation

Sixteen boys and girls of Marion, between the ages of 11 and 16, have returned from a 10-day vacation at the Salvation Army camp at Greenwood lake, Delaware. One little girl made a gain of nine pounds in weight during her outing at the camp, it was reported.

Following the regular camp routine of reveille, flag raising, exercise, breakfast and camp inspection the young people were grouped in study classes for Bible church history and scout craft. A rest period of one hour followed the luncheon and recreational activities occupied the hours from 2 to 5 p. m. Games included baseball, volleyball, tennis, quoits, archery and dart ball. Classes also were formed for swimming, diving and life saving.

Mrs. John Hunter presided as camp counselor for the girls and Captain Hunter was director of athletics.

NEW POSTAL RATES NOW IN EFFECT

Postmaster French Crow today called to the attention of Marion industries and business men the fact that the increase in postage on letters and cards to Canada, Newfoundland, Great Britain and the Irish Free State went into effect Sept. 1.

A large number of letters and cards have been returned to the senders due to insufficient postage since the rates, which requires three cents for a letter and two cents for a card to Canada or Newfoundland. The rates to Great Britain and the Irish Free State are five cents for letters up to the first ounce and three cents for cards.

The program will open Wednesday, Sept. 23 and there will be a general assembly that evening underneath the stadium. The class will be formally welcomed to the campus by Prof. F. E. Lumley, of the department of sociology, former chairman of the freshman week council. The program will be broadcast over WEAQ, the campus radio station.

Short talks by means of men and women and by student government leaders will feature a meeting on Thursday, Sept. 24 to be conducted by the student senate.
One innovation in this year's program will be language proficiency tests in French and Spanish for freshmen expecting to continue their study in those languages. The examinations will afford students an opportunity to qualify for advanced standing.
NEW SUPERVISOR OF NURSES REPORTS
Miss Mary Breckenridge Tells Of Work Done in August Miss Mary Breckenridge, recently appointed supervising nurse in her first report to the city board of health at its meeting in the office of Health Commissioner Dr. R.

S. Stritt yesterday afternoon, announced that 279 visits had been made by the nurses during the month of August. She also announced that 80 children had been examined in the pre-school clinic. Of these only nine had been vaccinated, she said.
A new plan whereby it will be possible for the nurses to make more frequent school visits was announced by Dr. Stritt. Whereas in former years a nurse could make but one visit a week to a school, this year she will be able to make two visits a week. The city has been divided into districts, Dr. Stritt said, with a nurse in each district whose duties will be confined to that territory alone, eliminating long drives from one part of the city to another.
Greater efficiency in the school nursing service will result from the change it is the belief of the health commissioner.

The wife was CORRECT

Husband gladly admits error in gasoline judgment . . . .

The wife was correct. One evening after returning from a drive, on which my car did not function properly, she said: "My little car will make that trip easier than your Caddy, and I believe it is the gas." I replied, "Gas don't make any difference—it's your free wheeler you're in love with." But she insisted that with X-70 my car would out-perform hers. We stopped at a Standard station, where after asking for X-70, the attendant politely suggested Sohio Extra-Ethyl as the better gas for my car. Evidently my face registered doubt for he then raised the engine hood, pointed to the letters "H. C." on motor block and explained the advantages of heat-tempered X-70 gas for cars of the type the wife drives and convinced me Sohio Ethyl was best for high compression motors. We learned just why heat-tempered gasoline was put on the market, after months of experiment and great expenditure of money.

And our Caddy now performs like a new car and we smile as we drive and now we agree it's X-70 for her and Ethyl for me. The wife was correct.

BLOOD PRESSURE

Mrs. Lulu Drake, 262 N. State St., Marion, Ohio writes: "For years I suffered from Rheumatism, Nervousness and High Blood Pressure. The pain was so severe I could hardly get around and could not attend to my work. I could eat but little.
My blood pressure was such that I had a continuous pounding in my head. Since taking ZO-RO-LO my painful rheumatism is gone, the nervousness has vanished and I eat and sleep well. I do my own housework and I feel better than for three years."

Hundreds of instances are on record where ZO-RO-LO, the greatest discovery in a decade, has been of wonderful aid in reducing high blood pressure after all other means had fail-

Daily Proverb—"They who boast most, generally fall most, for deeds are silent."

Up to Monday, the 1931 death toll in the city of Chicago as the result of automobile accidents was 760, an average of over three a day. Yet the world keeps on worrying over the possibility of war!

And now Paris reports that France, owing to decreasing revenues and mounting expenses, shows a treasury deficit of $100,000,000. Taxation, evidently, is not confined to any one nation, but is worldwide.

Regardless of the presence of between 100 and 200 children and young people on a Brooklyn street, gangsters asked if with bullets, Sunday, in an attempt to get a rival gangster.
Fortunately all but one, an eighteen-year-old girl who was wounded, escaped. The underworld evidently doesn't take seriously Greater New York's campaign to drive out gangsters and gunmen.

Governor Wilbur M. Brucker, of Michigan, a day or two ago expressed regret that the state does not impose capital punishment, and expressed the hope that the state law would be changed to that end. Hardly probable so long as the state's criminal element and its advisers vote as one against the change.

Detroit is considering the advisability of a change of form of government looking to a city manager, and Kenosha, Wisconsin, is seeking to get rid of the city manager it has. By this time, in the light of long experience in other cities, both Detroit and Kenosha should realize that it's not the system of municipal government, but the men chosen to fill places of trust which count.

To lessen noise, the owners of a well-established New York City cafeteria equipped their place with a noise-proof ceiling and floor, believing that the lessening of the noise made by rattling dishes and scraping chairs would be appreciated and increase trade. Instead, they found that their business was showing a steady decline, and after six or seven months the ceiling and floor were removed with an almost immediate picking-up of business. The conclusion is forced that the fastidious American public is not happy without noise.

Confidence Makes the System.

The capitalistic system in a defensive posure is an unusual sight. Otto H. Kahn, noted financier and international banker, who has explained in a widely-distributed article why the assertion that capitalism has failed in the current economic episode is false, has assumed marked responsibility in placing it there.

Mr. Kahn protests that capitalism is not un-dilted in the present economic system, therefore it is not at fault. Only the slightest recognition of the socialistic trend in government is required to permit agreement with this statement.

Capitalism, however, can not afford to be complacent. Whatever aspects of the present system there may be foreign to capitalism, the system is still predominantly capitalistic and as such, confidence in it has been shaken by recent events. It must acknowledge its share of responsibility and seek solutions to current problems.

Mr. Kahn sees the bitterness caused by the peace treaties that followed the World war as one of the problems. These treaties, in his opinion, are causing more trouble than the war itself. They should be revised.

Sensible cooperation with Europe is essential, Mr. Kahn believes, but cooperation at home is far more important. The proper adjustment of this problem and the one preceding can best be made within the framework of capitalism, he asserts. It is therefore, not so much the theory of the capitalistic system as the system's capacity for working problems that he defends. He suggests that it is necessary to do certain things in the present situation to preserve and strengthen its standing.
He assumes, tacitly, the system's capability to do them. They are: unite leadership, take care of the distressed, guard against precipitate action in the enactment of laws, modify antitrust legislation to suit the times, abolish prohibition, decrease government expenditures and guard against undue taxation, keep the railroads, secure world peace, strengthen confidence in banking, and keep faith in America's future.

No man could make a better defense of any system than Mr. Kahn thus makes of capitalism. The plain fact is that any system will work if you work it. If capitalism were able to perform immediately the tasks Mr. Kahn outlines, it would be perfect. So would any other system. It is no happens that believers in capitalism are still confident, as Mr. Kahn is, that everything will come out all right. And that is the best guarantee that success will come—they will be doing their best to "work" the system.

The Paul-Boncour Proposal.

Joseph Paul-Boncour can hardly claim any proprietary rights in the proposal advanced by him in Paris this week, that the nations of the world place their armed forces under the control of the League of Nations. It entirely lacks the element of newness. If our memory serves us faithfully, the idea originated with the late President Wilson, and has been advanced many times since. But, coming at this time, it is refreshing for the reason that it is so far away from the general trend of European utterances looking to the coming disarmament conference.

Up to the proposal of this distinguished Frenchman, one might well have assumed that next year's conference was not to be held so much to work a reduction of armaments, as to facilitate Europe in the double purpose of forcing us into the League of Nations and forgiving European nations the war debts they owe us.

Certainly the Paul-Boncour proposal can not be held to lead to this end. There is nothing in it which would prompt us either to forgive those debts or scale them further. And the suggestion, that the nations enrolled in the League of Nations should surrender control of their armed forces to the League is the very surest way ever to keep this country out of it.
It is simply impossible to vision congress agreeing to anything of the kind, even if it did not realize that such a course on its part would arouse nationwide outburst of resentment. The utter improbability of any such action is not only taken for granted here in America, but also in England, in Germany, in Italy and even in France.

The probable explanation of the proposal is that it is a trial balloon sent up by France to sound out the new British coalition cabinet on the plan France has been nursing for years —ever since the close of the World war, in fact—that of pooling armaments under the League of Nations whereby European security would be guaranteed by the land and air forces of France and the sea and air forces of Great Britain. This idea was dropped while the British Labor government was in power owing to the disinclination of that government to become closely involved in the affairs of continental Europe. The Labor government having passed, the French proposal is made with the idea of feeling out the coalition government towards Franco-British relations along the line of the long nurtured plan.

Word comes from Washington that no official notice will be taken of the proposal because of its lack of official character, which is as it should be. Far more pleasing is the word that the reception of the proposal in administration circles was cool—the unofficial assurance that official Washington will have none of it.

Prohibition Director Woodcock has recommended that the use of paid informers by federal dry agents be abolished whenever and wherever it can be done without disturbing enforcement efforts. It might not be a half-bad plan to abolish the use of them even should it disturb enforcement a bit.

$9,546,897.913 for Motor Vehicles.

Statistics just made public by the bureau of the census of the department of commerce show that practically one-fifth of the retail dollar in the United States in 1929 went for or on automobiles. In other words, of the $50,033,850,792 net sales made by the 1,349,168 retail stores that year, 19.68 per cent, or $9,546,897.913 were thus expended.

This automobile expenditure in retail stores was exceeded only by the expenditure in retail stores for food, which amounted to $11,310, 027,359, or 22.6 per cent, of the retail dollar.
It was almost $2,500,000,000 more than the $7,140,513,384 expended for general merchandise $5,200,000,000 more than the $4,315,234,497 spent in retail stores for wearing apparel, two and a half times the $3,637,052,607 for lumber and building, four times the $2,356,007,997 retail sales of furniture and household goods and nearly five times the $2,097,170,723 receipts of restaurants and other eating places.

These are actual figures, not estimates, and bring out beyond all question, the important part the automobile and its allied industries hold in the national life.

It is quite true that 1929 was not a representative year. It was a year in which spending was abnormal but yet it is not at all improbable that retail sales now as then are on the same order and in very similar proportions so far as classifications go. The sale of motor vehicles has not kept its pace, compared with that attained in 1929, but the sale of parts and of gas and oil must today be greater than they were twenty months ago, for there are more cars now than then and the fact that the proportion of new cars is not so large can only mean that the cost of parts for them and for gas and oil is heavier.

The census bureau reports that the men and women working full time in the retail stores of the United States in 1929, exclusive of proprietors were paid $5,134,000,000. That's a mighty sum of money, but when it is stated that the retail store workers, exclusive of proprietors and part-time employees, numbered 2,760,000 it may be seen that the average pay was only about $23 a week.

The civic affairs committee of New York City has protested against the proposal to extend the Fifth Avenue coach line in that city on the ground that it is encroaching on Chicago owners at the expense of New York, setting up that for the last eight years the line has paid dividends averaging 900 per cent.
That's the biggest Chicago-engineered racket yet to get into print.

Acting Director Cammer of the national park service reports he has found in Yellowstone park mummies far older than those of the Pharaohs. They are the perfectly preserved bodies of swarms of grasshoppers buried in the snow before the glaciers were formed or that reason, in the absence of information to the contrary, it is to be assumed that there were in that period no population-seeking locusts to suggest grasshopper result of public expense.

"DEPRESSION? I'LL TELL THE WORLD"

Editorial Opinion.

WHY NOT TRY THIS?

Most of us are prone to insist with all the eloquence God has given us that the United States simply must have better law enforcement. We say that present conditions are intolerable and impossible for a civilized land.
And we are justified in taking that way. The situation in America with respect to crime is fantastic.

But how many of us come into court with clear hands when we assert that something has to be done to improve the peace, health and safety of the nation and put down racketeering, violence and outlawry? How many of us insist upon obeying only those particular laws and ordinances that appeal to us and are convenient for us to obey and are disinclined to pay much attention to others unless a cop is nailing? It is guilty to be feared that few of us have much conscience or sense of personal responsibility in this respect.

That condition of our hearts and souls is one of the big obstacles in the way of suppressing all those vicious, destructive, and hideous forms of crime against which we continually cry out. It is the principal reason why there seems to be no remedy for the dreadful slaughter on the highways.

In short, a main difficulty in the way of securing law enforcement against criminals and the criminality inclined, and against the perpetrators of lawlessness, is the lack of voluntary law observance among those of us who are supposed to be honest and decent people.

There is no need to go into detail. Everybody knows what the situation is. Why not talk discussion and try a remedy? Why not for example, a self-protective, patriotic covenant among people of good disposition and intention, to obey the statutes and ordinances hereafter without watching, admonition or coercion by the police or the courts? Why not make voluntary submission to law the "proper thing" for a chance? Why not make it the accepted evidence of sense, intelligence and "class," if you want to use that word? Why not discard the foolish and vain idea that in some way it is smart to evade or beat the law, and get back to a sounder, saner idea, even if the effort does involve some imaginary hardship and require the exercise of some self-control?

A movement of that sort which took hold would be one of the biggest boons we who live in the United States could confer upon ourselves. We think, too, that it would facilitate the repeal of quite a number of laws and regulations that are highly unpopular and that exist not only chiefly because respectable people are not habitually law-abiding as a matter of pride and principle. We complain about unreasonable statutes; do we stop to think that many of them are on the books because some of us are unreasonable people and have provoked them?

A law-abiding movement among members of respectable society would be a fearful blow to the underworld, because it would give the police a chance to depend on that institution with all their power, without distraction, and in a knowledge that they had public support and approval behind them. That last, unfortunately, is something they can not count on now.—

of citizens to the question, "What Will Better Marion?"—the second in the questionnaire cir-prehensive insight into the community feeling regarding our home city, in the hope of arriving at a remedy for handicaps, if any, from which Marion may suffer.

A better understanding about duties of citi-munity spirit of helpfulness and fair play.

It isn't what we would do with fifty thousand what are we doing right now with the thirty-five thousand we've got?

Organized community playground centers well on an established road for longevity.

Pain After Operation.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Fear is a horrible master. A timid soul may tremble at the approach of some dread-person.
But fear of that sort is nothing like the agony suffered by the victim of disease, or what is just as bad, the suspicion of disease. My heart aches because of the worry, dread, apprehension of many a frightened mortal.

It is not at all uncommon for one who has had an operation to be in constant fear of a recurrence of the ailment. Every pain in the scar, or in the region of the old wound, is magnified into importance. It excites the dread that the operation has failed to effect a permanent cure. The smell of the anesthetic and the horror of the operation are recalled, and they terrify the poor soul.

It is particularly true that after an abdominal operation such an experience as this may all but ruin what would otherwise be a happy life. The dragging and discomfort in the field of the operation are constant reminders of dreadful things that might happen.

There is always a reasonable explanation for such symptoms. The abdominal cavity, for instance, is lined with a delicate membrane—the peritoneum. After an operation it may be difficult or impossible to stitch it together to restore perfectly and smoothing the tender tissues. Perhaps it has been necessary to hurry the operation a bit because the anesthetic was not taken kindly. It was better to leave to nature the complete closure of the wound.

For such a reason, and for many others, it is not uncommon to have adhesions or other local areas of tenderness. They are really of no serious consequence, but may be productive of occasional periods of discomfort, particularly on getting out of bed or in stooping or walking. Such symptoms mean no more than a sore heel, or a tender finger-nail.

But to the timid soul, with the memory of the past and the fear of what may happen they mean a lot. Because of this feeling, the victim may be bedridden, and, of course, the longer regular exercise is neglected, the longer the symptoms will persist.

When the physician has made sure there is no serious trouble, the thing to do is to go about your affairs. Get interested in your work and forget the past. It won't be long before the discomfort will be entirely forgotten.
No damage will be done by exercising—on the contrary, that is the way to get well and strong. To stay in bed means continued weakness and prolonged misery. Fresh air, out-of-door exercise and good food will end the trouble.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES.

E. H. Q.—What causes a red nose?
A.—This may be due to poor circulation, indigestion or constipation. Send self-addressed stamped envelope for further particulars and repeat your question.

L. A. Q.—I am a man of fifty-seven. For the past two weeks I have suffered with pain in the shoulders, arms and legs. My doctor tells me it is rheumatism. The treatment seems to cause stiffness and other symptoms. What would you advise? Should I eat meat? What vegetables would be most suitable?

A.—Try to find the underlying source of the trouble first of all. The treatment depends upon the cause. Heat and massage should give relief until further treatment can be prescribed.
For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

MRS. E. M. Q.—What causes my little boy of such to have boils very frequently? What treatment would you advise?

A.—There must be some underlying infection —this must be located and properly cleared up first of all. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

R. S. Q.—What do you advise for superfluous hair?

A.—Send self-addressed, stamped envelope for full particulars and repeat your question.

Solves Agriculture Problems.

BY ARCHIBALD MENDERSON.

One of the most extraordinary and inspiring stories of scientific experimentation in the field of agriculture has recently been told by Sir Daniel Hall, a director of the famous Rothamsted experimental station in England founded by John Bennet Lawes. Prior to this time, Sir Daniel Hall was first principal of the well-known agriculture college at Wye.
During the World war, Lord Protheroe took him into the ministry of agriculture. At the present time he spends much of his time in the interesting garden of Merton, where the famous biologist, J. B. S. Haldane, carries on his plant experiments.

One of the first accomplishments of Lawes, when he began work at Rothamsted, was the discovery of new sorts of useful fertilizer. He made experiments with animal charcoal, then a waste product. He found that, after treated with sulphuric acid, it gave much more efficient results. This led to the discovery of superphosphate of lime, which worked wonders on the turn-of-crop.

After centuries of more or less casual study, farmers had learned the wisdom of rotating crops. The question was scientifically settled as to what order should crops be rotated; and second, the scientific reason therefor. The question was to find what it was that different crops—wheat or corn or barley or turnips—took out of the ground.
Farmers knew that beans should follow wheat; but they didn't know why, and they didn't care, so they got results.

Another problem was the study of pasturing. Cows were turned loose to graze on fields.
Some of these fields are fertilized, others unfertilized. The milk yield bore relation to this question of the fertilization of the fields on which the cows grazed. This relation in case of different fertilizers was discovered. Thus it was possible, scientifically, to estimate the value of differently treated grass lands.

As pointed out by Bridges and Tiltman in "Master Minds of Modern Science," one patch of land at Rothamsted has been cropped for years without being given any fertilizer at all.
It is noted that the nitrogen steadily declines in the soil. The self-grown grasses are never taken away, but allowed to rot where they lie. This land is found to be improving, and the amount of nitrogen in it increasing.

Governor Dennison's Ancestry.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

The grandfather of William Dennison, governor of Ohio when the Civil war burst upon the nation, was a Unitarian minister in the establishment of Methodism at Cincinnati, and it was in his house on Main street near the river that the first preaching by a minister of that denomination was heard in Cincinnati.
This is how it came about.

At the opening of 1809, there was living on a farm in Clermont county, a local Methodist preacher named John Collins. One day in the summer of 1809, he drove his team to Cincinnati to buy some salt and other provisions.
He entered the store of Thomas Carter, in make his purchases and while doing so he inquired of Carter if any Methodists were located at Cincinnati. Carter replied that there were several Methodist families in the town and added that he himself was one.

Collins was full of religious zeal and when Carter stated that he was a Methodist he embraced him and inquired whether a place could be provided where he could preach to the local people of that faith. Carter readily offered his own home for the purpose, and it was arranged that such a service should be held.

In an upper room in Thomas Carter's house, therefore, the first sermon by a Methodist preacher was heard in Cincinnati on this occasion. Apparently Collins remained over night in Cincinnati and the service was held in the evening. On departing the next morning he promised the brethren that he would do all in his power to have Cincinnati made a regular preaching place on some circuit, and he seems to have made good, for almost immediately John Salts, a regular circuit preacher, came to Cincinnati, and found a class of eight persons ready formed by Collins. He reorganized this with James Gibson leader, and four of the eight members were of Thomas Carter's family, viz: himself, his wife, their daughter and a son. The daughter became the mother of William Dennison. The organization built the first M. E. church in Cincinnati three years later, on the north side of Fifth street, between Broadway and Sycamore streets.

The homes of Benjamin Klinge, Harry Kries and W. H. Mauch, all in the Marion street were entered by burglars and ransacked some time during the afternoon.

Fay Jones, a trawlerman in the local Hooking Valley yards lost his left arm as the result of falling over a keg of nails while walking along a moving cut of cars.

A large number of Marion people went to Bucyrus to witness an airplane flight.

It was learned that Mrs. Fred Tuttle, who had been found dead in bed in Columbus, the day before, had succumbed to a heart attack.

GRUBER CONDEMNS 170 GALLONS OF MILK

Inspector To Use Rennet To Make Dairy Product Unfit for Use.

The use of rennet as a means of rendering unfit for use milk which has previously been condemned was announced by Dr. J. W. Gruber city milk and meat inspector at the meeting of the city board of health yesterday afternoon.

Recently Dr. Gruber told members of the board he found 30 gallons of milk which he had condemned at an unloading platform of a local dairy being unloaded at a rear platform of the same dairy removing the lids the inspector said he poured the milk into a sewer.

A small amount of rennet, which is non-poisonous dropped into a can of milk causes it to curdle, making it unfit for use, the inspector said. More than 170 gallons of milk were condemned by Dr. Gruber during the month, according to his report to the board.

He also reported 36 farm inspections and 44 other inspections and the cancellation of 12 permits to sell milk in the city three of which were later re-granted when requirements were met. The average bacteria count ranged from 17,000 in pasteurized baby milk to 208,000 in raw milk. The report also shows 551 sediment tests of milk made during the month.

A method for super-pasteurizing milk with magnesium instead of heat has been developed by a British metallurgist.

I DON'T ENVY YOU ON WASHDAY! THE WATER AROUND HERE IS SO HARD, TOO

OH, I DON'T MIND. I LET RINSO, THE HARD-WATER SOAP, DO ALL THE WORK. IT SOAKS CLOTHES LIKE NEW

I'VE HEARD SO MUCH ABOUT RINSO—I MUST TRY IT

Rinso

The guaranteed hard-water soap for tub, washer and clothes

For whiter washes safely
... try these hard-water suds

THE SOAP you use makes a big difference on washday. If the suds are flat and lifeless, you'll have to scrub to get the dirt out. And then your wash won't look white enough. But thrifty Rinso gives you a gleaming, snowy wash every time! Its suds are creamy, active—even in hardest water. Saves scrubbing and boiling. Of course clothes last longer! Cup for cup, Rinso goes twice as far as light-weight, pushed-up soaps—without the help of powders or softeners. The makers of 40 washers recommend Rinso. Great for dishes, too.
